

Growth of a Greenhouse

This presentation describes the complete process to write and receive a grant needed to build a greenhouse. This session talks about hands on activities, how they are very beneficial to students to help learn, and how to incorporate many greenhouse activities into classroom instruction. The presenters will also have list of present activities that have been used and will be used in the greenhouse. There will also be dialogue on the need for staff and community support that has made this project a success. The greenhouse will be a place for teachers to provide hands on instruction so students will be able to learn by doing.
